A GHASTLY FIND OUT IN HARBOR

A party of native fishermen made a ghastly find in the harbor last night while engaged in their work. The men, Wm. Lindsay, Joe Hao, Kailua, Mao and Kihel intended to go fishing outside the reef. Before starting, when on Emmes wharf, Joe Hao threw out a hook with a heavy sinker, intending to catch a few eels for bait. When he pulled up his hook, he met with great resistance. Aided by the other men, he managed to get the hook up to the surface of the water when it was found that it had fastened to the coat of a dead body, which now lay floating limply on the surface. The men immediately notified the police of their find and Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth went to the scene with some officers.

The body was lifted out of the water and taken to the morgue where a preliminary examination was made.

In the dead man's pockets were found $1.15 and two handkerchiefs which had evidently just been purchased as they were entirely new and one of them was still wrapped in a piece of paper. The man wore a heavy brown beard and moustache. He was strongly built and evidently a sailor. On his left hand the third, fourth and fifth fingers were missing. The flap of the man's shirt bore the name Stein.

The deceased had been seen on the waterfront by several who saw the body last night and it is thought that he has been in this city for some little time.

One of the men who picked him up says that he saw him in a saloon on Saturday evening. As the body had evidently not been in the water for more than twenty-four hours, it is probable that the man in a more or less intoxicated condition, fell off the wharf, which is entirely in darkness as there are no lights in the vicinity.

GOOD FISH HAUL.

Walluku, Sept. 20.—An immense haul of hahalaia was made at Kahului by A. N. Kepolika's fishermen last Wednesday morning. About 50,000 fish were caught and a like amount was let go as the nets were not big enough to capture all the fish that were in the harbor that morning. Similar hauls of hahalaia, or young ahi, were made at Kihel. Mr. Kepolika sold over one hundred bags of hahalaia at $2 each, or at the rate of one-half cent per fish. Schools of ahi are also infesting Kahului waters and during the light northerly swells on Thursday and Friday of this week the Kahului beach was literally covered with these fish for a distance of nearly a mile.
